If well planned, your academic course work at another institution will be a valuable contribution toward earning a bachelor’s degree at the University of Utah. Many courses offered from other schools will fulfill requirements in the U’s General Education program- the basics required of all University of Utah students seeking a bachelor degree. You can even begin meeting requirements for some departmental majors while still a student at another institution.

The purpose of this guide is to inform you of the courses offered at other Utah institutions of higher education that meet specific requirements in various programs of study at the University of Utah. Preparing yourself now can save you both time and money.

How to Use This Guide

Many departments at the U have made agreements with the other schools in Utah. This means that the faculty at the U has agreed with the faculty at the other institutions that specific courses completed there will apply toward certain majors at the U. Therefore, for example, if you are a student at SLCC and are planning to transfer to the U, you will be able to take SLCC courses that will directly transfer into your proposed major at the University of Utah.

Applying to the U

You can apply online at http://admissions.utah.edu. You may obtain an application by calling, writing or visiting the University’s Office of Admissions

Office of Admissions
201 South 1460 East, Rm 250S
Salt Lake City, UT 84112-9057
(801) 581-8761

The annual deadlines for admission are:

Fall Semester……April 1  Spring Semester……November 1
Summer Session I…..March 15  Summer Session II…..March 15

(Financial aid, scholarship, and many departmental application deadlines may be earlier. Contact the appropriate office for more information.)

An application for admission, a processing fee, and supporting credentials must be filed with the Office of Admissions by the published deadlines. Applications received after deadlines are subject to the late handling fee. Official transcripts from all colleges or universities attended must be submitted to the Office of Admissions in order for your application to be evaluated. Transcripts must be mailed directly to the University Office of Admissions from the records office of all colleges or universities previously attended to be considered official.

Applicants transferring fewer than 30 semester hours or 45 quarter hours will also need to submit an official copy of their high school transcript and ACT or SAT results. These students must meet the University’s requirements as outlined in the General Catalog for both freshmen and transfer applicants.
The U’s Admission Criteria for Transfer Students

Applicants with 30 semester hours or more of transferable work and a cumulative college-level GPA of 2.6*1 or higher are likely to be admitted to the U. Those with a cumulative GPA below 2.6 will likely be denied. In addition, your last semester’s GPA must be above a 2.0. All transferable courses attempted and not withdrawn from are figured into your GPA. The Credits and Admissions Committee will review additional information for applicants requesting special consideration.

You will be notified by mail of your admission status within 2-6 weeks after your application and all credentials have been received in our office. If you are denied admission, you will receive a letter with some recommended alternatives. A process of appeal is available; contact the Office of Admissions for more information.

How Transfer Credit Is Evaluated

Once you are admitted to the U, we will inform you of the total number of transfer credits accepted and designate the courses accepted toward completion of General Education requirements on your Summary of Transfer Credit. The summary will also notify you of your cumulative transfer GPA. Transfer courses are not computed into the University of Utah’s GPA. Your University of Utah GPA will begin once you start taking classes at the U.

In state schools: The University of Utah will accept courses completed at accredited Utah colleges or universities with a course number of at least 1000 for state institutions and will generally accept courses with a course number of at least 100 for private schools (BYU, LDSBC, Westminster College) if you receive at least a D-grade. Students who have an associate of arts or associate of science degree or have completed the general education program at another Utah state-supported institution of higher education are considered to have satisfied the University of Utah’s general education requirements.

Courses transferred from private Utah colleges are evaluated on a course-by-course basis of whether they are (a) transferable (can be used toward the 122 semester hours required to graduate) and (b) equivalent to courses offered at the University of Utah and, thus, can be used to qualify for admissions into a selective major.

Out of state schools: Transfer credit earned in residence at other accredited collegiate institutions is normally accepted if the work is similar in nature to programs offered at the U, and if grades of D- or better have been earned in credited courses. Courses transferred from out-of-state schools are evaluated on the basis of whether they are (a) transferable (can be used toward the 122 semester hours required to graduate) and (b) equivalent to courses offered at the University of Utah and, thus, can be used to qualify for admission into a selective major.

If you have attended schools not addressed in this guide and have questions regarding the transferability of those courses, please call the Transfer Office of Admissions at (801) 581-7286. For questions regarding the evaluation of AP, CLEP, and Challenge Credit refer to the University of Utah’s General Catalog or contact the Transfer Office of Admissions.

It is important to realize that admission to the University of Utah does not guarantee admission into your intended major. Many departments require a separate application process and evaluate your course work for additional requirements.

Where You Can Go For Further Assistance

There are many important offices you will become acquainted with while attending the U. Several of these, including Academic Advising Center and Career Services, will offer immediate benefits to you. Orientation and New Student Programs office holds Orientation programs every semester before classes begin. If you are admitted

1 Subject to change at any time by the application deadline, you will receive an invitation to attend one of these very informative programs. Advisors at the Orientation programs will:

- Outline the University wide graduation requirements, including the General Education program
- Discuss class selection and program planning
- Assist students that have not yet chosen a major
- Familiarize you with the campus, student support services, and the many opportunities for student involvement
- Offer registration on the day you attend an orientation session for better course selection in your first semester at the University of Utah

Orientation may be one of the most important programs you will attend as a new University of Utah student. You must attend orientation to receive priority registration. All new University of Utah students pay a one-time matriculation fee. This $70 fee covers the cost of the new student orientation, AP/CLEP/IB credit evaluations, writing placement exams, graduation evaluations, and registration with the Career Services Center.

The University’s Career Services includes a nationally recognized career library with resources for extensive career exploration. If you have questions regarding the demand for graduates in your field, you will find valuable information located in the career library.

THE TRANSFER CENTER

Academic Advising Center

The Transfer Center is a resource to help students who are interested in transferring to the University of Utah. Our services begin with advisor visits to Utah community colleges and continue with advising and resources to help you once you are admitted and attending the U. We can help you:

- Select the best classes/programs at your home school to prepare for transfer
- Understand the application process
- Understand how transfer credits will be accepted at the U
- Select and plan for a U of U major
- Resolve questions and problems in your first semesters at the U

You can set up an appointment to see a transfer advisor on the U of U campus by calling (801) 581-8146 or visit our web site at www.transfer.utah.edu and see a schedule of our advisor visits to your school. Let us help you make a smooth transition to the University of Utah!

Still Have Questions?

For clarification of information contained in this guide, please contact the Transfer Articulation Coordinator in the University of Utah’s Office of Admissions at (801) 581-8761. You may also contact individual offices at the U for specific questions.

The Getting Ready Guide is not an articulation guide. The Getting Ready Guide is created by the Office of Admissions and departments from the University of Utah to show how courses may transfer from other schools to complete major requirements. This guide is major specific. Courses that satisfy requirements for a particular major may not clear requirements for a different major. If you are interested in viewing articulation agreements made between schools, please visit the Utah System of Higher Education Transfer Guide.

i The Colleges within the University of Utah offering undergraduate degrees include Architecture (AR), Business (BU), Education (ED), Engineering (EN), Fine Arts (FA), Health (HE), Humanities (HU), Medicine (MD), Mines & Earth Sciences (MI), Nursing (NU), Science (SC), Social and Behavioral Science (SB), and Social Work (SW).

ii Students requesting admission to a restricted major will normally be accepted into “PRE” major status. Additional requirements must be met before acceptance into the program. Please refer to the specific department for information on admission criteria.

iii The University of Utah’s residency hour requirement states of the total hours required for graduation that at least 30 semester hours must be earned in residence at the U. In addition, 20 of the last 30 hours must be in residence at the University of Utah.

iv The Athletic Training Major and the Physical Education Teaching Education major is restricted and is limited to 20 students by special admissions only.

v Occupational Therapy (OT) is a preprofessional major for students entering the professional program the senior year of their baccalaureate studies. Unless a student has been accepted into the professional program, he or she may not declare occupational therapy studies as a major. Students are encouraged to declare and pursue a separate major while simultaneously completing the OT prerequisites. Starting in fall 2015, all applicants must have a bachelor’s degree completed prior to starting the Occupational Therapy program.

vi The degree is granted through the college of the teaching major. Students must also apply to the Secondary Teacher Licensure Program through the College of Education.

vii The departments offering teaching minors are: Biology, Chemistry, English, French, Geography, Health Promotion and Education, History, Spanish, Mathematics, and Physics.

viii The departments offering teaching majors are: Art, Biology, Chemistry, Dance, English, Earth Science, Exercise and Sport Science, History, Mathematics, Music, Physics, Spanish, and Theatre.

ix Students with an emphasis in Actor Training must audition for acceptance into the program. There is open admission to all other programs.

x Students with a BFA Emphasis in the Musical Theatre Program, MTP, must audition for acceptance into the program.

In addition to the first-year studio curriculum, the candidate completes the requirements in an individual area of emphasis: art teaching, ceramics, graphic design, painting and drawing, photography/digital imaging, printmaking, sculpture intermedia, or Cross 3D Focus: Ceramics, & Sculpture.

➢ Admission Criteria: Transfer students apply to the University through the Admissions Office. The department does not require a separate admission process but does require a portfolio review for transfer credit in the major. Previous art coursework may count towards required courses in First-Year Studio as well as freshman- or sophomore-level classes in the intended emphasis area. Students must petition to have art courses from another institution approved for the art major through a portfolio review. Faculty in the desired emphasis area review samples of artwork in the portfolio for quality, so including the best work is very important. No more than twelve examples should be submitted for each class in the petition. If you request to waive part or all of the First-Year Studio sequence, your art work should demonstrate basic principles, such as line, perspective, value, and color for the 2D classes. 3D works should exhibit strength in composition through the use of visual elements. 3D works must show an attention to technique and craftsmanship and demonstrate a reasonable proficiency in the handling of construction materials. Original work is preferred, although slides, photos, or CD are accepted. 2D works derived from photographs do not make a successful portfolio. 3D work should be submitted in slide, photo, or CD form only. A copy of transcripts or a University of Utah summary of transfer credit must be submitted with the portfolio. Students who do not petition for acceptance of transferred art courses begin with the First-Year Studio program. Admittance into the Graphic Design emphasis is done once a year. Portfolios for Graphic Design are reviewed in March for admission for the following Fall Semester. Contact the department for the dates of each portfolio review.

➢ Transferring Courses: While attending BYU you may complete the General Education requirements and the courses identified to fulfill the University requirements. Art major classes may satisfy art major credit (see Admission Criteria). Please call the department office for portfolio review dates and portfolio submission guidelines.

➢ Transfer students wishing consideration for a continuing student scholarship must have attended the University for at least one semester to be eligible for the March portfolio review.

➢ Students are strongly encouraged to meet with a University of Utah departmental advisor before entering the U.

➢ Admission Criteria: Transfer students apply to the University through the Admissions Office. The department does not require a separate admission process but does require a portfolio review for transfer credit in the major. Previous art coursework may count towards required courses in First-Year Studio as well as freshman- or sophomore-level classes in the intended emphasis area. Students must petition to have art courses from another institution approved for the art major through a portfolio review. Faculty in the desired emphasis area review samples of artwork in the portfolio for quality, so including the best work is very important. No more than twelve examples should be submitted for each class in the petition. If you request to waive part or all of the First-Year Studio sequence, your art work should demonstrate basic principles, such as line, perspective, value, and color for the 2D classes. 3D works should exhibit strength in composition through the use of visual elements. 3D works must show an attention to technique and craftsmanship and demonstrate a reasonable proficiency in the handling of construction materials. Original work is preferred, although slides, photos, or CD are accepted. 2D works derived from photographs do not make a successful portfolio. 3D work should be submitted in slide, photo, or CD form only. A copy of transcripts or a University of Utah summary of transfer credit must be submitted with the portfolio. Students who do not petition for acceptance of transferred art courses begin with the First-Year Studio program. Admittance into the Graphic Design emphasis is done once a year. Portfolios for Graphic Design are reviewed in March for admission for the following Fall Semester. Contact the department for the dates of each portfolio review.

➢ Transferring Courses: Art major classes may be transferred to fulfill art major credit (see Admission Criteria). Please call the department office for portfolio review dates and portfolio submission guidelines.

➢ Utah Valley University offers A.A. and A.S. degrees, which satisfy General Education requirements at the U. Students may also obtain a letter of completion, which states all general education requirements have been completed. While attending UVU, students may take foreign language credits and/or other transferable electives for the U.

➢ Transfer students wishing consideration for a continuing student scholarship must have attended the University for at least one semester to be eligible for the March portfolio review.

➢ Students are strongly encouraged to meet with a University of Utah departmental advisor before entering the U.

ART HISTORY

This course of study is designed to teach undergraduate students to develop historically informed approaches to art within the broader framework of an interdisciplinary humanities education.

- Important Information: While attending Westminster College, students may complete the courses listed below, the General Education requirements, and the courses identified to fulfill the University requirements, including the foreign language requirement. Upon transfer to the U, the student must meet with an art history faculty advisor to determine a program consisting of upper-division courses in the major (36 hours) or minor (21 hours).

- Transferring Courses: The following courses may be taken at Westminster College to fulfill requirements for the Art History major or minor at the U. There are additional requirements not offered at Westminster that must be taken at the U.

PLEASE NOTE: The requirements listed as being satisfied in the following table are for this major only. If you change majors these courses may not clear requirements for your new major.

Ballet
BALLET

Students who major in ballet are trained for professional performing and teaching careers with additional emphasis on choreography.

- Admission Criteria: Transfer students must (1) apply to the University of Utah before an audition; (2) contact the Department of Ballet after applying to the University; (3) attend an audition class or audition by DVD. Transfer students may graduate with a ballet major only if they fulfill all requirements and spend a minimum of three full years in residence at the University. All students attend a placement class annually. Faculty assigns students to the appropriate ballet technique class according to the level of individual accomplishment. Since the program is intensive, students are advised to have at least six years of continuous and concentrated study in technique, pointe and/or men’s class prior to enrolling in the department. Applications and more information are located at dance.utah.edu under “Apply.”

- Transferring Courses: The following courses may be taken at BYU. If the transfer student is accepted in our audition these courses and credit would transfer. Up to one year of transfer credit from a comparable program may go toward meeting graduation requirements of the department. However, the student would have to complete our courses for the Ballet major to fulfill graduation requirements. See an academic advisor for further information.

MODERN DANCE
MODERN DANCE

Students majoring in modern dance are trained for professional careers as performers, choreographers, and teachers. The department also offers a dance minor for those students who want to continue to develop expertise in modern dance but who do not want to do a full 4 year major (BFA degree). Additionally, the department provides modern dance instruction for nonmajors and develops general appreciation for dance as an art form.

- Admission Criteria: The University of Utah Division of Modern Dance requires all transfer and freshman to audition for acceptance as modern dance majors and minors. The department requires these auditions in order for students to have the most optimal experience in their first year of study at the University of Utah. These auditions offer an opportunity for prospective students to observe the program. Each year students are able to choose from one of three audition dates for Fall Semester entrance. Please contact the department for audition information.

- Important Information: The Division of Modern Dance offers merit-based scholarships on an annual basis. All scholarship applicants must attend a departmental audition. Contact the department for more information.

- Transferring Courses: No courses are currently listed as automatically transferring from BYU to satisfy specific requirements for this major. Dance courses taken at other institutions may fulfill BFA Dance requirements, but will be evaluated on case by case basis once a student has been accepted into the Dance BFA program. However, while attending BYU you may complete the General Education requirements and the courses identified to complete the University requirements. The modern dance degree at the U will require completion of a minimum 79 additional credit hours.

- Students must meet with a University of Utah departmental advisor before entering the U.

MODERN DANCE

Students majoring in modern dance are trained for professional careers as performers, choreographers, and teachers. The department also offers a dance minor for those students who want to continue to develop expertise in modern dance but who do not want to do a full 4 year major (BFA degree). Additionally, the department provides modern dance instruction for non-majors and develops general appreciation for dance as an art form.

- Admission Criteria: The University of Utah Division Of Modern Dance requires all transfer and freshman to audition for acceptance as modern dance majors and minors. The department requires these auditions in order for students to have the most optimal experience in their first year of study at the University of Utah. These auditions offer an opportunity for prospective students to observe the program. Each year students are able to choose from one of three audition dates for Fall Semester entrance. Please contact the department for audition information.

- Important Information: The Division of Modern Dance offers merit-based scholarships on an annual basis. All scholarship applicants must attend a departmental audition. Contact the department for more information.

- Transferring Courses: The following courses may be taken at UVU to fulfill requirements for the Modern Dance degree at the U. Dance courses taken at other institutions may fulfill BFA Dance requirements, but will be evaluated on case by case basis once a student has been accepted into the Dance BFA program. While attending UVU you may complete the General Education requirements and the courses identified to complete the University requirements. The modern dance degree at the U will require completion of a minimum 79 additional credit hours, which may be lowered upon evaluation of course work completed at other institutions.

MUSIC
The B.Mus. is the professional degree for music majors. Programs are offered in the areas of performance (emphases in piano, organ, voice, strings, classical guitar, woodwinds, brasses, percussion, or harp); piano pedagogy; music teaching; jazz performance or composition; music theory; composition; music history; and literature. The B.A. program in music is available for those desiring a traditional liberal arts degree.

- Admission Criteria: Transfer students must audition for the University of Utah School of Music. Before transferring to the U, students should contact the School of Music Office for information regarding the audition process. (www.music.utah.edu)

- Important Information: If the Music Theory series is taken at BYU, the courses will be assessed upon transfer to the U to determine if all critical information was conveyed in the course. Students should realize that even if all of the University requirements are completed while attending BYU, it still may take up to four years to complete all of the required music courses, depending upon the major emphasis in music.

- Transferring Courses: No courses are currently listed as transferring from BYU to satisfy specific requirements for this major. However, while attending BYU you may complete the General Education requirements and the courses identified to fulfill the University requirements, including foreign language credits and/or other transferable electives for the U. To ensure student success in the music theory/musicianship sequence, a placement test will be administered before transfer credits in music theory/musicianship are articulated.

The School of Music will accept credits in large ensemble and private lessons according to the placement level assigned at auditions. If a student is placed at the 2000 level, then a maximum of 2 credits for ensembles and lessons will transfer, if courses have been passed with a C or better. In every case, students will begin their sequence of lessons and ensembles in accordance with their degree program at the level in which they enter.

- Students are strongly encouraged to meet with a University of Utah music advisor before entering the U.

MUSIC

The B.Mus. is the professional degree for music majors. Programs are offered in the areas of performance (emphasis in piano, organ, voice, strings, classical guitar, woodwinds, brasses, percussion, or harp); piano pedagogy; music teaching; jazz performance or composition; music theory; composition; music history; and literature. The B.A. program in music is available for those desiring a traditional liberal arts degree.

➢ Admission Criteria: Transfer students must audition for the University of Utah School of Music. Before transferring to the U, students should contact the School of Music Office for information regarding the audition process. (www.music.utah.edu)

➢ Important Information: Proficiency exams may be required for all students entering upper-division courses and for keyboard skills. Students should realize that even if all of the University requirements are completed while attending Weber State, it still may take up to four years to complete all of the required music courses, depending upon the major emphasis in music.

➢ Transferring Courses: Music courses will transfer to the University of Utah with a C grade or better. To ensure student success in the music theory/musicianship sequence, a placement test will be administered before transfer credits in music theory/musicianship are articulated.

One semester of conducting fundamentals for a minimum of two semester credit hours will satisfy the conducting fundamentals requirement, even though it may be an upper-division course at the university.

The School of Music will accept credits in large ensemble and private lessons according to the placement level assigned at auditions. If a student is placed at the 2000 level, then a maximum of 2 credits for ensembles and lessons will transfer, if courses have been passed with a C or better. In every case, students will begin their sequence of lessons and ensembles in accordance with their degree program at the level in which they enter.

Music History, which is frequently a 3000 level course at universities, is complex and differs enough from institution to institution that it has not been included as a transfer course. Students should check with the institutions music department for specific major requirements.

➢ While attending Weber State, students may complete General Education requirements and courses identified to fulfill the University requirements, including foreign language credits and/or other transferable electives for the U. Students may have a letter of completion sent from WSU, which states all general education requirements have been completed.

➢ Students are strongly encouraged to meet with a University of Utah music advisor before entering the U.
